g for your Students Continues in 2009

The Indianapolis-Marion County Public Library is proud to continue offering your students access to the Internet-based tutoring service called Live Homework Help. Your efforts to get the word out to your students by putting a link on your school's website, handing out fliers to your students or simply talking to them about the service has worked! Use is up from last year by 65%!

Remember, it's a free, secure and easy way to connect your students with qualified tutors.

Students can engage in controlled chat with trained experts in Math, Science, English, or Social Studies.

Live Homework Help Tutors are available to help your students from 2:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. seven days a week. Tutor.com is funded through The Library Fund, a fund of The Indianapolis Foundation.

One local 7th grader left this comment about the service:

"My tutor made it easy for me to understand this without giving me any answers. I will use this the next time I need Homework Help."

Tutors can assist students in grades K-12 with homework questions that range from proofreading papers about Geography to questions about Science and Algebra. As an added bonus, Spanish-speaking students can get help in Math and Science by tutors who are fluent in their language.

From any computer a student can click on the Live Homework Help link located on the Library's web site at www.imcpl.org, or if you prefer, you can direct your students to Live Homework Help from a link located on your school or media center web page.

In an effort to make it easier for you to spread the word about this free service and create a link on your own school web page, please visit <http://www.imcpl.org/linktooursite.html>, where you will find an image to use for a link to Live Homework Help as well as text and a url.

If you would like to order Live Homework Help fliers to send home with your students, please send an e-mail to Tami Edminster at tedminster@imcpl.org stating how many you would like in English and/or Spanish. If you would prefer, you may also call Tami at 275-4083.

If you have any questions or need further assistance, please feel free to contact me. If you decide to create a link to any of these resources, I would appreciate it if you let me know. Best wishes for the second half of the school year.

Sincerely,
Carrie Waterson
